Abraham Lincoln is in the Wrestling Hall of Fame. Defeated only once in approximately 300 matches, Lincoln reportedly talked a little smack in the ring. According to Carl Sandburg's biography of Lincoln, Honest Abe once challenged an entire crowd of onlookers after dispatching an opponent: "I'm the big buck of this lick. If any of you want to try it, come on and whet your horns."

There were no takers.

South Carolina produces more peaches than anywhere in the country, except California.

The American Dream is still alive out there, and hard work will get you there. You don't necessarily need to have an Ivy League education or to have millions of dollars startup money. It can be done with an idea, hard work and determination.

The South Carolina state flag dates back to 1775 and is full of symbols from the Revolutionary War. The blue background matches the color of the colonial soldiers' uniforms. The crescent is borrowed from the soldiers' hats. The palmetto tree represents a successful stand against a British attack.

The Angel Oak Tree on John's Island is estimated to be in excess of 400-500 years old. It is 66.5 ft tall, 28 ft in circumference, and produces shade that covers 17,200 square feet. From tip to tip its longest branch distance is 187 ft. This Live Oak tree is considered to be over 500 years old and is one of the oldest living things east of the Mississippi. The tree gets its name from the Angel family who once owned the land the tree is on.

Wild hogs roam much of South Carolina. They were originally brought to the U.S. by the Spanish in the 1500s and they are a continuing problem in the state. They prey on wildlife and livestock and their rooting and nesting behavior promotes soil erosion. Additionally, they contribute to the spread of tree disease and hinder attempts at reforestation.

South Carolina is home to the world's hottest chili pepper, Smokin' Ed's "Carolina Reaper," grown by Ed Currie of the PuckerButt Pepper Company. Currie's peppers are so hot that often people who eat them will spasm and vomit.
